問 5 次の英文を読んで、下の問いに答えよ。

It's not easy to be cheerful in a cold, hard world. It hurts when others *criticize our looks or behavior. Harsh words and negative comments can lead to *depression and a loss of *self-esteem. What can we do to make the world a happier place?

One way to bring sunshine into people's lives is through *compliments. A compliment is an expression of praise or *admiration.

★ A [ア that イ wish them well ウ complimenting people エ respect them and オ we're thinking of them カ shows]

How do you compliment people? It's easy! First, open your eyes, look around and become aware of others. Is your *colleague wearing a nice tie? Did your classmate get a haircut? Has your friend bought a new purse? Try to notice how people look, what they do and how they act.

Next, *verbalize your feelings. If someone looks nice, say so. If they're good at something, tell them. True compliments come from the heart, not like *shallow *flattery meant to *manipulate others.

The most common ways to compliment people are to praise their appearance ("I like your hairstyle!"), comment on their belongings ("That's a nice handbag you have!") or admire their skills ("You really speak English well!"). People may *blush but they'll feel happy inside. Everyone likes to be complimented!

Learning to compliment people is one important skill. Accepting compliments *gracefully is another. What should you do when someone compliments you? There are several ways to respond.

If someone says, "I like your shoes," say "Thanks!" If they say, "That's a nice pen," just reply, "Do you think so?" If they say, "You're a great soccer player!" tell them,

"★ B [ア so イ to say ウ you エ that's オ of カ nice] ."

There's a famous story about compliments called Love and the Cabbie by the American *humorist Art Buchwald. The story takes place in New York, a city famous for its *grumpy neighbors and rude citizens. A *guy decides to fight this negativity by complimenting 10 different people each day. Every time he takes a taxi, he compliments the driver ("You're very skillful!"). Whenever he passes a building site, he praises the construction workers ("That's a great job you're doing!"). By giving compliments each day, he aims to make people happy, *boost *morale and make his hometown a better place.

In class, my students and I study this story. Then, I give them a special homework task: "Compliment three people in our city, then write a report about what happens." For the following week, students are busy complimenting friends and family, bus drivers and waiters, police officers and train staff. For one short week, our city becomes a very happy place!

Compliments are free and easy to give. They bring smiles to people's faces and *brighten the lives of others. So, don't be shy. Compliment someone today!

*criticize 「批判する」	*depression 「落ち込み」	*self-esteem 「自尊心」
*compliment 「褒め言葉」	*admiration 「感嘆」	*colleague 「同僚」
*verbalize 「言葉にする」	*flattery 「お世辞」	*shallow 「浅い」
*manipulate 「操る」	*blush 「顔を赤らめる」	*gracefully 「気持ちよく、しなやかに」
*humorist 「ユーモア作家」	*grumpy 「気難しい」	*guy 「男」
*morale 「士気」	*brighten 「明るくする」	*boost 「高める」
